THE COMPLETE ARRANGEMENTS

Made by Sergeant-at-Arms for Handling Delegates

AND SPECTATORS WITH TICKETS

Of Admission—A Small Army of Ushers to Seat the Delegates and Audience—Decorations Finished—Protection from Fire Unexcelled—Chief of Police will Inspect All Houses and Rooms on the List of the Bureau of Information so that No One Will Fall into Bad Company.

ST. LOUIS, June 9.—Sergeant-at-Arms Byrnes, and his first assistant, G.
N. Wiswell, of Milwaukee, visited the convention auditorium to-day and decided upon a number of details, such as the stationing of inside doorkeepers and assistant sergeants-at-arms and distributing the force of ushers and pages. Four doorkeepers will be stationed at every door, two outside to inspect the tickets as the crowd passes through, and two inside to tear off the coupons. In this way, the crowd can be handled promptly. Each division will have four ushers, and they are to be seated all comers, or, at least, inspect their tickets. There are forty divisions in the dress circle and gallery, making a force of 160 ushers. The space for the delegates, alternate, national committee, and other visitors, is divided into eleven divisions, and each will be provided with four ushers.
Then, there will be a small army of pages and several hundred sergeants-at-arms. Chief Harrigan has promised Colonel Byrnes, a couple of hundred policemen, who will be ready to lend assistance if called upon.
They are to take no part in disputes until requested to by one or more of the colonel's assistants. A good many of the policemen will be probably attired as private citizens and known only to the convention officials and employees.

The work of the auditorium is about finished. The portraits of General Grant and Admiral Farragut were put up yesterday. The great naval commander will look down on the members of the convention from the gallery railing at the east end of the hall.
Directly opposite is a portrait of General Phil.
Sheridan, representing the army. The still greater leaders, Lincoln and Grant, are on the two sides, the first almost directly over the speaker's stand, and Grant at the center of the south gallery opposite. Higher than all, just above Lincoln, is Washington. Each is surrounded by American flags.

The absence of pictures and mottoes representing leaders of the Republican party of to-day will be noticed. The omission was intentional, the local committee having been placed under restrictions in this matter. The decorations will be all in place before Wednesday evening, the time set for the dedication of the building.

A fire company is on duty in the auditorium and will be until after the convention. Their fire apparatus includes a chemical engine with a capacity of 160 gallons of water, twelve Babcocks, 700 feet of hose attached to a water plug of each of the four corners of the building and a number of ladders, hooks, axes, wire cutters, ropes and buckets. The building has also a fire alarm box connected with the central office of the fire department.

The American Telegraph and Telephone Company will have two long distance telephones in service at the convention. Thirteen telephone wires in all will be run into the building.
General Coleman, of the bureau of information, is preparing a complete list of all the houses and rooms that have been registered with him for the accommodation of strangers. This list he will submit to Chief of Police Harrigan in order that the police may make a personal inspection of each place.

There are more than 200 houses registered at the bureau, besides hotels and halls. Daily orders are registered, while requests for accommodations of small parties of visitors also continue to come in.

A WOMAN'S WAY

She was Bound to Make Her Husband Notice Her Dress.

Chicago Record: Women will appreciate this—married women in particular.
It may be unnecessary to remark that the details of this story were furnished by a woman and that a male artist has graciously undertaken the task of drawing a picture of a feminine costume from a description couched in the feminine terminology.

The story deals with a young woman —a young married woman—who lives on the west side of town. She has not yet celebrated her wedding anniversary, but she has learned how to compel her husband to admire her new gown.

This is how she did it.
She had always dressed well. Her figure is of the "petite" variety and she has taste and money combined with a certain daring ingenuity in devising effects.
One day a few weeks ago she, with the aid of her dressmaker, finished what she called a "creation." It was a dainty house gown of light goods, plentifully trimmed with lace and ribbons, and when she first wore it she knew that she was particularly dainty and sweet.

She waited patiently for a half hour for her lord and master to come home to dinner, and then she waited impatiently for fifteen or twenty minutes more.
Finally he came.

Did he stand off and admire her to this frivolous little soul wanted him to? He did not even mention the fact that she had a new gown, though he secretly he did notice it. He merely said: "I'm sorry I'm late, dear; I really must insist on closing the office promptly at 5." During the dinner he vaguely wondered what was the matter, while she struggled to keep back the tears of disappointment. Then she meditated revenge.

Next day she consulted her dressmaker, who, being a married woman as well as an artist whose skill had been slightly, readily entered into the plan.
They visited the larger department store, and after looking over all the brilliant and variegated calicoes in stock, they selected the most gorgeous and purchased a liberal pattern therefrom. It was a black gown, almost entirely hidden by gaudy flowers, measuring from four to eight inches across the face, and of the colors commonly known as "nauseating colors," with a deal of red and yellow. To make up this, they had not quite a quantity of hideous faded-looking orange ribbon and some cheap silk to match. Then they made the dress.

A few days later Mr. Jones said to his book-keeper: "John, come to supper with me and we will talk that over. Now don't hurry back to come home to dinner for Mrs. Jones." So that night Mr.
Jones opened the door and sang out in a cheerful voice: "Well, my dear, I have brought John home to supper with me." Then he started back in amazement at the apparition that appeared in the door way.

That afternoon Mrs. Jones had put on her dress with the assistance of her maid of all work, and when the task was completed and she stood before the mirror the two women laughed till Mrs.
Jones rolled over on the bed in hysterics, thereby giving the costume its finishing touch. "I really believe," she said, "that this new dress," she said as she arose.
It was a princess, over the front of which a mad pattern of the ribbon chased with a reckless disregard of symmetry. A yellow cascade ruffle ran down each side from under the arm to the floor; a Watteau plait of yellow silk trailed to the floor; the sleeves were tight with a large ruffle around the elbow, and, in fact, the whole outfit was enough to compel any man to stagger and cry out.

It was sufficient to say that Mr. Jones noticed the new dress. So did John, and when Mrs. Jones came down a few minutes later wearing the "creation" they noticed that also.

A SIDE ORDER

To the Knights of Pythias to be Organized in Wheeling—The Lighter Vein of Pythianism.

There is a movement on foot among the Knights of Pythias of this city, to organize a new and picturesque side degree to the order, known as the Dramatic Order, Knights of Khorassan, and as there are already more than sixty of the required one hundred names signed to the list of charter members, it is considered a sure go.

The aim of the order is particularly to cultivate the social side of life, and present an opportunity to those who enjoy a dramatic ritual, to spend an evening or two in each month in association with kindred spirits, when they may participate in ceremonies enlivening, entertaining and provocative of amusement, as well. The order will be made up of members of Black Prince, Ohio Valley and Baltimore lodges, and is particularly designed with a view to creating better and broader acquaintance among the Pythian Knights, furnishing a middle ground upon which the members of different lodges can meet, mingle and know one another, thus breaking down those lines of separation that so often exist between the members of separate lodge organizations.

Nobody but a Knight of Pythias, can join the new order, which to Pythianism, is similar to that of the nobles of the mystic shrine to masonry. The ceremonies used in the order are described as costly and magnificent and the whole work as being very dramatic. The constitution of the supreme order requires that each lodge shall start with a membership of not less than one hundred members and as Wheeling and the counties to be given in this district, have over 1,200 Knights of Pythias, it is seen that it will be an easy matter to get the thirty or forty names still required.

The new order will be instituted in about four weeks and the event will be marked with a banquet to be held after the members have "tacked the flag." The supreme temple officers will be here for the occasion and it will be a notable happening in secret society circles in Wheeling. Among those who will be present at the institution of the new order are: Sublime Venerable Prince, Hon. Howard Douglas (P. S. K. of P.), Cincinnati; Imperial Prince, Hon. John A. Hinesy (P. G. C. K. of P.), Chicago; Imperial Bashah, J. M.
Stratton (S. R. K. of P.), Philadelphia; Imperial Kadi, A. P. Riddle (S. R. K. of P.), Minneapolis; Imperial Secretary, Louis Sax, Milwaukee; Imperial Treasurer, W. G. Edens, Galesburg, Ill.; Imperial Adol., J. Hess, Sidney, Ohio; Imperial Inkr., J. Sawyer, Covington, Ky.

It is more than likely that Knights of Pythias from all over the state will flock to Wheeling to participate in the organization of the new Temple of Khorassan and a parade will be one of the brilliant features.

WONDERFUL ESCAPE

Mr. A. E. Wing, a Keeper at the Michigan State Prison at Jackson Tells About It.

From Jackson Citizen: Mr. A. E. Wing is a keeper at the Michigan state prison, Jackson, a position he has held for years. Our representative found him at his residence, No. 612 North Jackson street, and he related the following incident, the truth of which is beyond dispute, for Mr. Wing's sterling qualities are well known to his many acquaintances, a good man and a faithful officer, he would not misrepresent anything that would wrongly impress our citizens. He says: "Some months ago my attention was attracted by a swelling in my groin; the swelling began to increase to such an extent that I was alarmed. It spread down my legs right into my feet, so bad that I could not get my pants or shoes on. I had to open my shoes a distance of fully two inches. My condition was very bad; my face even puffed up and my whole system even seemed affected; I could hardly walk up stairs to unlock my men. I went to a physician, one of the ablest in the city. He said the swelling was caused by my kidneys, and I commenced treatment with him, but my condition did not change and I seemed to be getting worse. About this time a friend strongly urged me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and I finally consented to let him get a box for me.
After the first week of their use I commenced to notice a change and I continued taking them, five boxes in all, with the happy result that I was completely cured. I must confess that I was surprised at the result. I have never heard of any medicine which seemed to have such a radical effect and yet leave the system in such a good condition. I feel better now than I ever did. After the effect was once established the swelling gradually disappeared until entirely gone. I consider Doan's Kidney Pills simply wonderful as an agent in curing any form of kidney disorder."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers, price 50 cents. Mailed by The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
